Science Envoy Travels to Bangladesh

U.S. Science Envoy Rita Colwell will travel to Bangladesh January 10-13, 2012, on her second Envoy trip. She will meet with senior government officials and representatives from the scientific, education, nonprofit, and business communities. Dr. Colwell will discuss cooperation on global health, climate change, Feed the Future, and women and youth in science. She has been collaborating on cholera projects in Bangladesh for decades.
